COMMUNICATION WITH THE CONCERNED AUTHORITIES

In its endeavour to establish channels of communication and engage with the administration and political leadership of the country, IMPAR wrote various letters of concern.

- A letter was written to Shri Prakash Javadekar, Cabinet Minister, Min. of Information and Broadcasting, Government of India on his Commendable Stand against Sudarshan News propagating hate against Muslims through four episodes of its "BindasBol" programme on alleged infiltration of Muslims in the bureaucracy which has breached the programme code and cautioned to the channel of "stricter penal action" in case of future violations.
- A letter was sent to Home Secretary, Government of India with the Request for putting a ban on the use of term 'Love Jihad' in legal and public discourse. The letter contented the fact that 'Love Jihad' itself is an undefined, unrecognized concept and no such case of 'love jihad' has been reported by any of the central agencies so far, highlighting Article 25 of the Constitution and said "it provided for the freedom to profess, practice and propagate religion subject to public order, morality and health".
- IMPAR has sent a greeting to The Chairman, National Dairy Development Board (NDDB) on National Milk Day being observed on November 26 every year with our eagerness to contribute with our available human and other resources in achieving the laid vision and mission of NDDV.
- A letter of appreciation was sent to Shri Mohan Bhagwat Ji, Sarsanghchalak (Chief) of Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) on his remarks about 'World as a Family' in an online programme on 'Vaishwik Pridrishyamein Bharat ki Bhumika'.

RESEARCH PROJECTS AND PROPOSALS

- A project proposal is developed on the topic entitled "Analysis of Economic, Social, Educational and Political Progress of Muslims in India" with the purpose to assess real time data so that IMPAR can modify various strategies to further accelerate its mission of progress and reforms of Indian Muslims.

It's time to build the image of the community and change others' perception about us. What can be the ways to build positive perception in the eyes of others is challenging and need to be worked upon is also talked about.

INDIAN ARMY: THE MOST SECULAR INSTITUTIONS IN THE COUNTRY

Dr. Amjad Ali

COGNIZABLE HISTORY

It has been a widely held 'myth' that Indian Army institutionalizes religion or caste. There are some regiments in Indian Army named after communities, and some named after regions as determined by the British rulers then. But this has a historical context and has continued as an inherited legacy.

Thus, we have the Sikh regiment, the Marathas, the Jat, the Gorkhas etc. but this doesn't make any of these regiments exclusive for other communities or regions, like all other public institutions. So, it is no surprise to see a Mohammed Zaki commanding Garhwali troops or a Y N Sharma as commanding officer of the Grenadiers (which incidentally has Muslim soldiers) as head of the family, which is what a commanding officer is. It is common for a Zaki to felicitate the puja on Janmashtami, celebrating the birth of Lord Krishna, or for a Sharma to organise the namaz on Id Ul Fitr after Ramzan.

It is further emphasized that Indian Army has maintained a strong secular tradition and does not believe in religion based discrimination. To the extent that strong opposition was raised over the proposal for so called 'census' of Muslims in Indian Army. Several sections of Indian Army have also opposed the headcount on the basis of religion especially when the Sachar Panel had sought the data on Muslims share in Indian Army. Hence, there is no official report available in this regard. However, the strength of Muslim may be roughly around 2.50-3%, forming approximately 25-29000 personnel (CNN IBN).

It is undoubtedly true that the number of Muslims in the Army is far less than their proportion in the population. This is also a historical legacy as the recruitment of Muslims in the armed forces in pre-Independence India was concentrated in Punjab, North West Frontier and Balochistan which are all part of Pakistan today. Similarly, the states of Orissa, Gujarat or even Andhra Pradesh are not represented in proportion to their population. To assume any bias on regional basis is to see evil where none exists (Girish Palariya, 2019).

It is true that severe threats to amity and accord on account of divisive politics and the consequent weakening of the social fabric in recent years, many Muslim officers have continued serving in Indian army at all levels. For example Idris Hassan Latif rose to the position of Air Chief Marshal, later served as Governor of Maharashtra and Ambassador to France. Brigadier Usman gave his life fighting in Kashmir and it was his effort at Uri that the invaders couldn't get

LOVE JIHAD: A COMPLETE FICTION

Dr. Amjad Ali

The term 'Love Jihad' refers to as 'Romeo Jihad' which came into light in 2007 in Kerala and Karnataka state, but became part of public discourse in 2009 when Catholic Church bodies in Kerala and Hindu groups in Karnataka claimed that thousands of women had been coerced or lured into converting to Islam. In response to the claim, Kerala High Court ordered the police to look into the matter in which a report was submitted which categorically rejected the claim mentioning that there was "no substance" to the claims that "Love Jihad" was taking place. However, in the same year a case of 18-year-old Silija Raj, who eloped with her Muslim boyfriend in Karnataka, was used as propaganda by far-right Hindu groups to peddle the "Love Jihad" myth.

According to Charu Gupta, a professor of history at the University of Delhi, "There is nothing which can prove that "Love Jihad" actually exists. It is only a way to control women and to build up the bogeyman of evil Muslims," which is evident when the term was widely used by the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) during elections in Uttar Pradesh with the sole purpose to the polarization of the electorate along religious lines. Similar tactics were used by far-right groups when India was still under British rule.

It is significant to note that in certain ways "Love Jihad" along with various issues had an uncanny resemblance to the 'abduction' and conversion campaigns launched by the Arya Samaj and other Hindu revivalist bodies in the 1920s in Uttar Pradesh, at a time when there was a spate of Hindu-Muslim riots in the region. It is also true that in the "Love Jihad" myth lecherous behaviour, skill in luring Hindu women through false promises, a high sexual appetite, a life of luxury and religious fanaticism are all portrayed as dominant traits of the male Muslim character because it provides privileged status to moral panic and public morality over constitutional morality.

Dr. Lubna Kamal

Hijab and Quranic Psychology

Recently, Times of India published a story about Haleema Sadiya, a Hijabi Callisthenic performer. Social Media remained on fire, sympathizing with poor Muslim Women, who liberals feel, are oppressed by Islam since centuries. In another remarkable instance, new recruit police Constable Zeena Ali has become New Zealand first member to wear a specially designed hijab as part of her uniform. Contrary to Modern Muslim women reject imperialistic savior thinking and sympathy of all sorts. Islam and Quran have empowered us 1400 years back and Women only need to find out their rights and assert them.

However, the effect of wearing the hijab on the perception of Muslim women within a Muslim country is far from understood. Of particular importance is that the hijab is worn as a symbol of cultural identity, piety, and modesty, and Muslim women within a Muslim country are encouraged to wear this head-covering when in public as a means of limiting their physical attractiveness to men. Indeed, the way in which a woman wears a hijab is widely regarded as a public display of the depth of her faith and the extent to which she is intending to restrict her attractiveness. But despite these intentions, the effect of the hijab on how others perceive the facial attractiveness of the person wearing this item remains to be fully determined.

Most non Muslims fail to understand that females taking up hijab nowadays are the educated lot, who no longer can be told what to wear. And the head gear is neither just about to assert their Islamic identity. It's about Psyche and difference in behavioural patterns of the two sexes, which Quran explains very well.

IMPAR releases its monthly report on November 10th, 2020.

ABOUT IMPAR

IMPAR was established with the aim to change the image perception of the Muslim community and to create better opportunities for our younger generation and create a positive change in the society by empowering our women and reforming the plight of our brethren. The journey has been very eventful and the organisation delivered in many areas with a sense of urgency. The organisation grew at a very fast pace with efficacious organisational capabilities and the contribution of all the members of Steering Committee, Executive Committee, various Councils of IMPAR and functional groups members. We have to plug along in terms of delivery, direction and credibility and work on finding long term solutions and be a ray of hope to navigate the community to the path of reforms and progress. We hope to further accelerate the speed of output and delivery in the months to come. Hope, our collective efforts make some difference to the situation of our community.
